Wacky Olympics

All the teams made a great showing today at our wonderful Wacky Olympics, but one city must stand above all. The men of Martie took the gold today, currently reigning 1st in the great competition for honor city. However, nothing is forever, and Las Craigas in 2nd and Osgood in 3rd stands ready to take the lead from the Martie boys. Jaytown ended today as a dark horse in 4th, with Anderson and Howard off to a bad start in 5th and 6th, respectively. However, it is only the first day of Nevada Boys State, and every city is still poised to take the honor city crown.

Legislation

Jaytown-74

Anderson- 26

Howard- 38

Las Craigas- 32

Martie- 35

To kick off the start of Nevada's Boy State, Jaytown completed 74 bills allowing them to begin in first place. Tying in second place, Osgood and Howard both completed 38 bills. Then, Martie took third place with 35 completed bills. Following Martie, Las Craigas completed 32 bills. Unfortunately, Anderson came in last place with 26 completed bills. BMore submitted legislation translates to more opportunities for legislation to pass, so the more legislation the better!

City Council Elections

Today, we had the decisive city council elections. Although many positions were filled, four positions stood out as being important for many later interactions at Nevada Boys State, one of which was the mayor. In Las Craigas, Connor Leeming was elected as mayor, in Howard, Brooks Anderson was elected as mayor, in Jaytown, Solomon Sia was selected as mayor, in Martie, Aaron Cheng was selected as mayor, in Anderson, Alexander Balasky was chosen as mayor, and in Osgood, Holden Smith became the mayor. Another important position was the district attorney, which defends the citizens of its city. Parker Duff won D.A. for Las Craigas, Matthew Wallace was elected for Howard, Michael Tracy was selected for Jaytown, Miguel Ordanez was chosen for Martie, Caleb Rivers became D.A. for Anderson, and Ryland Rumer is the D.A. for Osgood. Another important position is chief of police. In Las Craigas, Sean Garner won, in Howard, Michael Paisimio was elected, in Jaytown, Ryan Huang became

Chief of Police, in Martie, Michael Bishop was selected, in Anderson, Jermiah Harris won, and in Osgood, Tazhan Graves was chosen as chief of police. Finally, the Lobbyist was the last important position. Alexander Munn won in Las Craigas, Nelson Legowski the IVth attained victory in Howard, Reesce Krider was victorious in Jaytown, Mark Minkoff is the lobbyist for Martie, Tyler Jarley was selected in Anderson, and Garret Freeth became the lobbyist in Osgood. These positions are very influential, and you should keep an eye on these people when you look towards the future of Boys' State.

√Federalists vs Nationalist

It is important in this program to know which political party you are involved in. In this program there are only two political parties that you can be a member of, either Federalists, which mirror Republican ideals, or Nationalists, which mirror Democratic ideals. The Federalists believe, for example, in a stronger border, are pro-Second Amendment, and believe in the minimum wage not being raised. Meanwhile, the Nationalists, for example, are pro-immigration, want more gun control, and believe in raising the minimum wage. Every delegate should know what their party stands for.

Yesterday's recap!

We all woke up today and traveled great distances. We arrived at the dorm and got settled in. Then, we went to the park for some team building exercises. Then, we ate lunch. After that, we did the morning ceremony and orientation. After that, we ate dinner. Shortly after, there was a political debate. Then, we split along party lines. Penultimately, we ran for committee positions. Lastly, we appointed city officials.
