STILL SERVING

Many weren't much older than today's Nevada Boys' State delegate. They came from America's farms, the local diners, and every socio-economic class. Some were drafted, others lied to the admissions officers in order to leave high school and serve in the "Big One." The "War to End All Wars" was the moniker that rallied the tearful mothers and wives as their husbands and sons left for the far shores of France, Germany, and Eastern Europe.

They left as heroes eager to stop the expansion of governments and ideals they didn't quite understand. Months later, they would find themselves sitting in muddy trenches in wet wool socks and uniforms that weren't fit for the weather or situation. World War I was the war that introduced the world to machine guns, chemical and biological weapons, and airplanes. Months would pass with progress being measured in inches and not towns, miles, or dead.

For nearly three years, it seemed that the war would never end. Huddled in trenches, the American soldiers built relationships that would last a lifetime. Perhaps the Sergeant replaced the role of the father the 15 year old Marine Corp private left behind. Perhaps the man sharing your foxhole for the past six months became more of a brother than the city slicker from New York City . . . a city you only knew of months before when the Yankees won the World Series. In the closing months of this war, the Americans found themselves in Paris holding meetings to establish an organization that never forgot the sacrifices of those who died next to you. It would be an organization that would guarantee the atrocities experienced for the previous years would never be revisited. It would make certain that those who returned would receive the benefits promised them by a grateful nation. And thus, in March 1919, the American Legion would be formed.

Our heroes returned from Paris and Europe in waves. They would offload a troop ship in New York and be handed separation papers and $10 to transport them across the country to their homes. When they returned home, they didn't forget the commitment and bonds formed in those trenches. They founded American Legion posts in every town in America. They named them after their fallen comrades. Darrel Dunkle Post # 1 in Reno is named after the first Reno man killed in World War I. Without television, Internet, or the modern conveniences we know, their lives focused on service to the community, state and nation through the American Legion post. Weekly poker games would find yesterday's heroes challenging each other to be better citizens. In the coming decades, the American Legion would change the very tapestry and lifestyle of America.

The American Legion would become integral in passage of the GI Bill of Health guaranteeing that the wounds inflicted during service to our great country would be cared for until death. The American Legion would go on to found such great programs as Boys' State, American Legion Baseball, Oratorical Contests, and many others. They would support local sports teams, picnics, Boy Scout troops, and the local Memorial Day Parade. If you wanted anything, the Legion would help, especially if you were a veteran.

But, even the Legion couldn't stop World War II. As the years passed, America's duty to the world community would be tested in such far and unknown places as Vietnam, Grenada, and Saudi Arabia. As each war concluded, they would welcome the veterans' and continue to serve as a place where the returning soldier could find a home. In doing so, they became the largest Veterans' organization with over 3 million members.

Today, the American Legion stands as America's watchdog for veterans' and military members. You see, if you decide to serve America in any branch of the military, you cannot lobby Congress on your behalf. Many young enlistees receive food stamps to overcome the small pay. They must live in homes or barracks erected for their grandfathers and last painted when their fathers served.

But the Legion still believes in America. Members participate in a program called Spinoza Bear that places a teddy bear in the arms of a terminally ill child. The child, afraid as she lies dying in the hospital, confides to the bear or cries out telling the bear her pains. Late at night, as the young girl rests, the doctors remove the tape hidden beneath the bear's chest to help find the true feelings of the child and help treat her in any way possible.

Legion members donate millions to the National Emergency Fund or the Child Welfare Foundation. This money helps communities overcome floods, fires, or other natural disasters. They provide Christmas meals to homeless families and provide an honorable burial for the veteran who froze to death on the streets last night. They lobby Congress for a strong military and fair treatment of those willing to serve and protect the freedoms of all of us. They believe in America's symbols and honors. No organization gave more to the World War II memorial and none have given more in order to pass a flag protection amendment.

They continue with programs such as Boys' State to make certain that the experiences they hoped would never be forgotten are fresh in the memory of the leaders of tomorrow. There is a bumper sticker that states, "If you love your freedom . . . thank a Vet!" America is great because of our veterans and the American Legion. Never forget their contributions to our society and never forget the many things they do for us each and every day without praise, personal pride, or fanfare. They follow the creed of "Still Serving" and America is the greatest country in the world because of great organizations like the American Legion.

ADAPTED FOR NEVADA BOYS' STATE BY HAE CHU

Delegates,

I had a dream last night. In it I found myself much like Sisyphus, rolling a rock futilely up a hill only to have it roll down again. At first I thought this dream had no significance but I soon came to realize the profound meaning this barrage of narcoleptic images that flashed before my eyes that night. It didn't matter why I was rolling the rock up the hill; it was how I was doing it. This week is going to be an arduous trek. No doubt many, if not all, of you are suffering the symptoms of sleep deprivation or homesickness. But when this week is over, when you've reached the top of the hill, you will be able to look back on the trail you've carved. Delegates, I hope you make the most of your time here at Boys' State. I hope you are climbing up the hill with a smile on your face. I hope that when you get to the top of the hill you will be able to look back with confidence and say that you took the best path possible. When Saturday comes, when you go home after this experience, the rock of life will once again roll down the hill. Again you will have to make an arduous trek to your next goal. Hopefully you can look back on this hill and say you truly are better for rolling the rock up the hill.

56th Session of Nevada Boys' State

2002 NEVADA BOYS' STATE LEGISLATION

NEVADA BOYS' STATE RESOLUTION # SB 103

AUTHOR: Brian Chan and Adam Meyer

CITY: Anderson

Memorializing the 2003 session of the Nevada Legislature to enact legislation providing for the reconsideration of closed-campus lunches in Nevada high schools.

WHEREAS, the closing of school campuses would bring a decrease in revenue to nearby businesses/restaurants who thrive on revenue from students; and

WHEREAS, closed-campus in highly populated high schools creates the issue of overcrowding in school cafeterias, which would cause long lines for food, excessive lateness to class, and possible frustrations amongst students; and

WHEREAS, with open-campus lunches, students are given the opportunity to have a "mental break" from school; and

WHEREAS, statistically, school violence decreases because of the occurrence of violence outside the school campus; now therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the Boys' State of Nevada, assembled in Carson City on June 20, 2002, that the 2003 session of the Nevada Legislature is hereby memorialized to enact legislation to provide for the reconsideration of closing school campus lunches.

NEVADA BOYS' STATE RESOLUTION #AB 202

AUTHOR: Chad Leavitt

CITY: Anderson

Memorializing the 2003 session of the Nevada Legislature to enact legislation providing for the creation of a new fiscal structure for education

WHEREAS, The education in the state of Nevada is in a crisis situation, and needs a new source of supplemental funding; and

WHEREAS, the state's largest school district is the sixth largest and fastest growing in the United States of America; however, it yet remains under funded at a ratio of $1000.00 under the national per pupil average; and

WHEREAS, the children in this school district are our future, and will follow as the leaders of our country. If our community fails to educate them properly, they will not be equipped enough to run this nation efficiently; and

WHEREAS, it is important to have an unchanging, stable source of funding for education so our children's futures are not jeopardized by a decline in the uncertain gaming industry; now therefore, be it

RESOLVED, there needs to be committee to review the state tax structure and insure the security of education. This will not be a drastic change, but just enough to pay for the $904,999,713.00 deficit we are facing. By raising these taxes by an unspecified percentage, which will be set by the state, we will raise the appropriate amount of money to secure a stable educational structure for our children. This state has grown at such a rate it has left its tax paying public overwhelmed and unaware that there is an obvious solution to an undeniable problem. By raising taxes in those three areas, it allows the tourism industry and the local community to fund education, which will be a joint venture entered in by the very coalition it will affect. It is time for tax payers to step up and fund what is truly important in the state of Nevada - Education, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, by having these funds allocated to the districts, they will have money to: restore previous cuts, buy adequate books, supplies, equipment, and be able to afford a much needed increase of pay for teachers, and
